EASLEY APPOINTS MADDREY TO LIBRARY COMMISSION

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley appointed Elizabeth Huntley Maddrey of Eden to the North Carolina State Library Commission.

Maddrey is a former teacher for the Rowan County Public Schools. She is currently a trustee at Wingate University and the vice-president of the foundation board for Rockingham County Community College. Maddrey helped organize the Friends of Eden Public Library where she served as the first president. She served several terms as a trustee of the Rockingham County Public Library and was a trustee of Chowan College. Maddrey received her associate's degree from Wingate University, her bachelor's degree from Pfeiffer College and her master's degree from Appalachian State University.

The North Carolina State Library Commission advises the secretary of cultural resources on library matters. The commission is responsible for evaluating and approving plans for public library development and multitype library cooperation and plans for federally funded library programs. The commission has 15 members, and the Governor appoints eight members. The members serve four-year terms.
